

HOT TOPICS Your Perfect Weekend New film reviews New brunches

Things to Do

Arts + Culture

Music + Nightlife

Restaurants

★★★★★ &em&gt;Time Out&em&gt; Critic

A Nude Hope: A Star Wars Burlesque (Saturdays at 9:30pm at Gorilla Tango Theatre, 1919 N Milwaukee Ave)

"A long time ago..." we read on the undies of the perky Geek Girl Burlesque players who bend over at the beginning of A Nude Hope to reveal the first ten words of George Lucas's famous prologue written across their asses. That's the beginning of 60-plus minutes of cheeky, geeky disco-drenched fun that includes a horny, prepubescent Luke Skywalker, a tassel-twirling C-3PO who strips to "Car Wash" and a Han Solo (played by a knockout cutie with a peroxide hairdo) who takes out Greedo with the cheeky line, "Guess I shot first." According to A Nude Hope, the Force "penetrates" us all. Indeed. —Jason A. Heidemann